

How to post comments on John's blog

To access the blog click on 'John's Blog' on the Halesworth community church homepage.

Click the 'comments' link at the bottom of the post you want to comment on.

Write your comments in the box provided. From the drop down menu next to 'comment as', choose the 'Google account' option. Then click 'post comment'.

The page that opens will give you the option of either logging onto your Google account or creating one. If you do not have a Google account click on 'Create an account now'.

Fill in the necessary fields and then click continue. This takes you back to the blog and there you can click the 'post comment' link.

Opening and viewing pdf files

We use pdf (portable document format) files a lot on this website. If you want them to always open in the same size as the original document (rather than say 150%) then open a pdf file from the site, right click and go to 'Page Display Preferences'. Select 100% in the zoom window and click ok. This should mean all your pdf documents will open to this size.

When you want to close the pdf file remember to hit the back button on your browser otherwise you will close your browser down.

If you have any difficulty please get in touch via the contact page